WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP) .-Congress was adjournament bent today, many members convinced that neutrality legislation is dead for the session and that the administration's new lending program may be shelved until next winter. "About two weeks more, I would say," one veteran Senator estimated. However, he was ready to agree that his forecast depended largely on what the administration decides to do. If it should decide to fight it out on neutrality, for instance, Congress, in his opinion, might as well make up its mind that it will be here until "Thanksgiving, or maybe even Christmas.' The general feeling is that the dministration, having made its position plain, for the record, by the ombined messages of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull yesterday, would let the situation rest at that. Hull repeated arguments he has made for repeal of the present neu-trality law's mandatory embargo on arms shipments to belligerents, and the President indorsed the Secretary of State's views, adding in a message of his own that "In the light of world conditions" it "highly advisable" to act at this

INVESTIGATE THIS DEFINITE

T HERE are two ways of determining whether Termites are at work on your property: First, wait until their march of destruction has progressed to the point of visibility from the outside: second (and safest) to have a complete examination made by a responsible Termite Control Inspector.

TERMITE CONTROL

Termites never work in the open. They remain hidden inside the wood-seldom coming through the surface; therefore their presence is rarely suspected until they have done considerable damage. Even if they are at work on your property right now, there is still reasonable time for you to investigate the various methods of control. No need of rushing into a course of action until you are positive it offers you the bona-fide protection you need.

That's why Huttig welcomes—even urges you to investigate. Know all the advantages of the Huttig Security Plan: A complete examination of your property without charge or obligation; a Five-Year Maintenance Guarantee, backed up by a Replacement Clause; no paying in advance for services to be rendered one, two, three, four or more years hence. Check all the Termite Control methods-point for point. The more you check, the more, we believe, you will want the definite protection of the Huttig Plan.

Why not 'phone for an inspection first thing tomorrow morning? Remember, there's no charge and no obligation-now or later. TERMITE CONTROL DIVISION

Jury Finds Them Guilty, Fixes Penalty, in Murder of Cave-in-Rock (Ill.) Man With Bomb.

DEFENSE LAWYER SEEKS NEW TRIAL

Victim's Wife Hears Verdict With No Show of Emotion but Cries When Taken Back to Jail.

CARMI, Ill., July 15 (AP) -Mrs. Alice Austin and her neighbor, Theodore Simmons, convicted today on charges of murdering the woman's estranged husband, Earl Austin. Cave-in-Rock school janitor, were returned to the Harrisburg jail tonight to await sentence.

Austin, 46 years old, was killed last March 20 near his home when dynamite placed under the floor boards of his truck exploded. Miss Lacene McDowell, 22, his companion, was maimed.

A jury which found the two guilty today after a four-day trial, fixed their punishment at imprisonmen for 14 years. Mrs. Austin, 35, whom the State accused of having planned her husband's murder, cried as she was returned to jail, but made no com-ment. Neither of the defendants Dust Blast Blamed for Fatal Fire showed any emotion when they heard the verdict in court. OMAN SETS NEW RECORD FOR ROUND-WORLD TRAVEL

Mrs. Clara Adams Circles Glob by Commercial Airlines in 16 Days, 19 Hours.

She stepped from a cross-country United Air Lines plane at 9:16 a. m., 16 days, 19 hours and 4 minutes after leaving Port Washington, L L. on the first passenger flight of Pan-American Airways trans-Atlantic Clippers.

The old record, 18 days, 14 hours and 56 minutes, was held by H. R. Ekins, New York reporter, who circled the globe in 1936.

Mrs. Adams, a middle-aged wid-ow, said the flight, which cost $1935, celebrated her twenty-fifth year of air travel. A confirmed first-flighter, she was on the first Atlantic crossing of the Graf Zep-

Burglary Charge; Girls May Be Freed.

MQUNT VERNON, Mo., July 15. -Prosecuting Attorney Sam Ginz of Lawrence County said today that Lillian and Elinor Kress, sisters, of St. Louis, had told him they had not yet got around to being married to Ace and Robert (Shadow) Martin, brothers, of Affton, St. Louis County, with whom they are held on burglary charges.

"We questioned them separately." Ginn related, "and the boys said they were married in the afternoon and the girls said they were married in the evening. After that they agreed that they hadn't yet been married."

The girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kress, arrived here today to take them home if they are re-leased. The boys have admitted burglaries at a general store and two filling stations in nearby Halltown. A preliminary hearing for all four is set for Tuesday, at which it is probable, Ginn said, that the girls will be freed.

75,000 TO BE CUT OFF WPA ROLLS IN NEW YORK CITY

Dismissals of 12,500 Weekly to Comply With New Law—"Real Tragedy" Chief Says.

NEW YORK July 15 (AP) .-Lieutenant-Colonel Brehon Somervell, New York Work Projects Administrator, today ordered dismissals of 75,000 persons from the work rolls, to begin Monday and con-tinue for six weeks at the rate of 12,500 a week. He said this com-pliance with the new Federal law requiring removal of persons who have been on WPA for 18 months was "real tragedy," in which, "we'll save a nickel and lose a thousand dollars." Efficiency of many WPA projects will be reduced to "practically zero," he predicted.

About 77,000 in New York have worked for the WPA 18 months or more but 2577 of these are war veterans who are exempted. Replacements are to be made from home relief lists, but Somervell said that in August the WPA in New York would have 127,000 employes, about 13,000 fewer than now.

Although the act permits reinstatement of the laid-off workers at the end of 30 days, Somervell said this would not be done unless the home relief rolls could not supply enough workmen.

sity of Missouri 98-piece band playing at the ceremonies.

The Governor, Mrs. Stark and 150 other Missourians reached San Francisco last night to be greeted by Mayor Angelo J. Rossi. Stark was guest of honor at a Press Club Won't Talk About '40. "I can't discuss that," he said when asked about the possibility of his being a "dark horse" entry in next year's presidential campaign. Tonight he was entertained at a dinner given at the Palace Hote in San Francisco by the Missouri Society of California.

'home-coming" day, with Stark in the spotlight of a program starting at 10:30 a. m. and lasting all day Some of the ceremonies will be in the Missouri Building, where Stark will speak over a Pacific Coast radio hookup (Mutual) from 2:30 to 3 p. m. A reception for the Governor will be held in the building. A reunion dinner for Gov. Stark will be held aboard the U.S.S. Indianapolis tomorrow for 10 mem-bers of his class of 1908 at Annapolis. Stark served four years in the Navy after his graduation with honors. The nine classmates, who are in port with the fleet, are now Captains. Cross Bridge Over Bay. Fourteen autos took the Missour party across the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge to Treasure Island, stopping on the highway along the island edge of the Port of the Trade Winds, where the trans-Pacific clippers finish their flights from the Orient. There, the Governor was greeted by Col. Rabb Bush, commandant of the Island's Army detachment Leland W. Cutler, president of the Golden Gate Exposition, and Maj. O. J. Keatinge, chief of the exposition foreign exhibits division.

After inspecting the company, the party moved to the Federal Build-States commissioner to the exposi-tion, and Phil Gibson, director of nance and representative of Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California, greeted the visitors. Gibson, a native of Missouri, attended the University of Missouri. Stark walked through the Federal Building, inspecting the exhibits. Occasionally he was accosted by former Missourians who shook his hand. Among them was a for-mer soldier who served with him in the World War when Stark was Major of artillery.

Electrical Workers' Picnic. The sixth annual picnic of In-ternational Brotherhood of Electrical Workers', Local Union No. 1 will be held next Saturday night at Gray's Grove, West Florissant avenue and Chambers road. A large electric lighting display, built by members of the electrical and sign hangers' unions with materials furnished by dealers, supply houses and manufacturers, has been installed on the grounds.

UNCHARTED WILDERNESS HAS GATEWAY IN MINNESOTA

The vacationist who seeks uncharted wilderness for his holiday will find it in Northern Minnesota. Ely, on the outskirts of the Superior National Forest is said to be the United States. Beyond it are several million acres of pine forests and thousands of miles of canoe routes used by the Hudson Bay Co., the Dawson route which was well known to the fur traders of the old days, used by Indians, early French missionaries and once by a English army which moved 100 canoes along the international boundary, While vacationists are busy fishing the workers on the State's two game farms are preparing for the coming hunting season. The first hatches of ring neck pheasants have been taken from the incuba ors. More than 1000 pheasant hens are producing eggs at the Madeli farm and it is expected that more than 24,000 will be raised this year. At the Carlos Avery farm where 27,000 quail and 2000 chukar partridges were produced last year, the quall hatch is being decreased for attractive all-expense week tour phone Burkett Tour & Travel Service, CHestnut 7272. in favor of the chukars so that production will be evenly divided be ween the two species.

Minnesota's charted lakes which umber 5000 in an expanse of 20,-000 square acres abound in game fish of all kinds. The sandy shores offer quiet camp sites and the forest trails are open to hikers.

Name Is a Laugh. Ha-Ha Bay, seven miles long and two miles wide, was named, according to local legend, when early explorers sailed into it believing it to be the Saguenay River's true course. When they came to a dead end, they realized the joke was on them, and named it "Ha! Ha! Bay."

C.G. FISHER, DEVELOPER OF MIAMI BEACH, DIES

Promoter Also of Indianapolis Speedway Once Turned $10,-000 Into $8,000,000.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 15 (AP) .- Carl G. Fisher, 65 years old, pioneer developer of Miami Beach and one of the original promoters of the Indianapolis Speedway, died today of gastric hemorrhages.

Fisher, who had been gravely ill since yesterday and ailing for months, died less than an hour before the expected arrival by plane of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Fisher, from Montauk Point, L. I., also developed by Fisher.
Fisher came to Miami on a vacation in 1913, and as a result of his vision a tangle of mangroves and sawgrass in Biscayne Bay was turned into a foremost resort. Miami Beach now is assessed for municipal tax purposes at more than $61,000,000 (in 1923).

than $61,000,000 (in 1923).

One of the early developers, the late John S. Collins, ran out of funds. Fisher put up $50,000. He then cleared jungles, built bulk-heads, dredged up sand, turned swamps into land. By 1917 the jungle had become a desert of sand.

Canals and waterways were dug, trees and shrubs planted. Fifty acres were turned into polo fields, 325 acres given to golf links. Fisher built hotels, stores, beach casinos, boulevards and marketed residential property.

In 1927 Fisher developed Montauk Point on the eastern tip of

FREED IN MORALS TRIAL

Jury Acquits Los Angeles Pair Accused of Obscene Exhibitions in Home.

LOS ANGELES, July 15 (AP) .--The Rev. Joseph Jeffers and his wife, Zella, were acquitted today on all four counts charging them with giving immoral exhibitions in

"We had our fate in the hands of the Lord," said the self-ordained astor, "and the Lord has never ost a case." Spontaneously his followers, many elderly, burst into "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Jeffers led them in prayer outside the courtroom, where he had testified he and his wife had been given liquor containing a powder by Vincent Higgins, District Attorney's investigator, whom they knew under another name as a Hollywood film writer

Both said Higgins represented to them that the powder would neu-tralize the alcohol in the liquor. They testified that after they drank it they had only a hazy knowledge of their actions for several hours. Their lawyers sought to show that recorded conversations between them, Vincent Higgins and Marguerite Morgan, were really the voices of actors.

Proportional representation-or P. R., as it is usually called-is Designed to prevent such conditions. It has been adopted in a dozen or more American cities, including New York and Cincinnati, and about 18 in Canada. Several of the American cities have abandoned it, after a referendum or an adverse court or legislative ruling. (Cincinnati voted last month, for coun the second time in three years, to bers, continue the system, this time by a margin of only 742 votes.)

P. R. is used to some extent in every quarter of the world. Since the Irish Free State (now Eire) was founded in 1922, the plan has been in effect at all major elections. Advocates of P. R. are on hand in every American city where eform of municipal government is discussed, and several efforts have been made toward its adoption in

Many advantages are claimed for, P. R .- making every vote count, ing higher-type candidates, reducing fraud, and so on. At the same time, its opponents are quick to Paise numerous objections. Chief among these is the charge that the system is bewilderingly complex,

The mechanics of the plan are simple enough: the voter merely writes numerals before the names of candidates on the ballot; "1" to indicate first choice, "2" for second choice, and on down the list as far as he wishes to go.

But, it is contended, the average voter fails to understand the system, and cannot follow the counting. This led ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York to write in 1933: "It is my mature opinion that proportional representation is an ceedingly complicated and unworkable gadget."

Both the case for this system and the technique of its application can be explained understandingly by an episode which is a classic among P. R. advocates:

The headmaster of an English boys' school calls for the election of a student council of five members. Each form puts up five candidates, but the upper form boys on see they will be outvoted by the more numerous lower form and so will have no representation on the council. The headmaster suggests a plan to insure fairness. He Puts 10 chairs in the school yard and has the candidates stand on them. Then he tells the boys to gather around the candidates they favor, the five with most supporters to be declared elected.

Large groups gather around the most popular boys of each form, while other candidates have only a handful of supporters. Then the boys realize that, with 250 voters -150 in the lower form and 100 in the upper-a candidate needs only 50 votes to be elected. Proportional Representation: Survey of Voting System Aimed To Curb Boss Rule Corruption

Adopted in Many U. S. Cities, It Prevents Complete Exclusion of Minority Voices From Legislative Halls.

By FERD GOTTLIEB Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

In a democratic government, the right of decision belongs to the majority, but the right of representation belongs to all.

HESE words, written in 1865 by Ernest Naville, Swiss political philosopher, point out a generally acknowledged defect in the voting systems commonly in use. They suggest also the remedy proposed by advocates of proportional representation, a balloting method designed to give full weight to the voting strength of minority groups, and thus to prevent political parties and blocs from obtaining a degree of control disproportionate to the votes they command.

As an example of what results; from defective voting methods, the make-up of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen is sometimes cited. A solidly Democratic Board of Altermen is now in office, although Republican voters cast a total of 174,000 votes in the last two city elections, as against 257,000 by the Democrats. This means, of course, that the views of Republican voters are not represented in the Board of Aldermen; that these citisens are in effect disfranchised. None month the whole political landscape of Louisiana has changed so much that if the late Huey P. Long came back to look at the State he once ruled as an absolute dictator he wouldn't know the old place now.

For the first time since the Kingfishassassinated in September, 1935-consolidated the tremendous power of his political machine, opponents of all he stood for in government are beginning to nurse hopes that the machine can be beaten in the gubernatorial primaries next January.

Three major candidates have already an nounced for that race. They are:

Gov. Earl Kemp Long, brother of the Kingfish, who as Lieutenant-Governor automatically succeeded to the office with the recent resignation under fire of Gov. Richard Webster Leche.

State Senator James A. Noe of Monroe, wealthy oil man, one of Huey Long's earliest financial backers, whom Huey had elected Lieutenant-Governor and who served out the term of Gov. Oscar Kelly Allen when Allen died in office.

Increasing Skepticism of Power Of the Totalitarian Countries In Crucible of Actual Warfare

Could Germany Win? General Opinion Seems to Be No, Even in War Offices That Trembled After Munich.

By ERNEST KIRSCHTEN Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

HE capitulation of Chamberlain and Daladier to Hitler at Munich last September, coming as it did after three years of excursions and alarums, from remilitarization of the Rhineland to German Anschluss with Austria, seemed to convince Americans that Germany once more had a mighty military machine on the march, an army even more powerful than the one that defiled through Aix la Chapelle and rolled over the fortifications of Liege in August, 1914.

Now, 10 months after Munich, fear of the Axis Powers seems to be subsiding. Calmer minds are writing the magazine articles. With only an occasional dissenting voice like that of Lloyd George, we are being told, with statistics to buttress the argument, that the Third Reich could not possibly win a war agains France and England, even if they were without the support of a concert of Eastern European and Danubian countries.

Surprise Impossible.

Germany's only real chance would be a paralyzing surprise attack-a multi-lateral blow so sudden and so destructive that it would shatter the military and industrial nerve centers of the democracies overnight; and that is out of the question, according to such men as Willson Woodside, former University of Toronto econo mist, writing in the current issue of Harper's Magazine, and Maj. George Fielding Eliot, military expert, in the June American Mercury. Germany, these writers say, does not have the men, the guns, the planes or the ships for this much publicized "undeclared war." As for any danger to the United States, that has been brushed aside in the recent magazine articles by Oswald Garrison Villard, C. Under pressure, negotiations were begun with Russia. Russia demanded a full and comprehensive alliance. The British counter-proposals left obvious loopholes for an attack on Russia with British connivance.

The whole dangerous situation was sum-marized in the London Times' phrase, "Danzig is not worth a war." Nobody thought it way to bring economic, social and politics was; the question was whether war could be prevented by making it clear to Hitler that future aggression would meet with resistance. Negotiations over Danzig and discussion of other controversies with Germany would have been intelligent and proper, if there had been a peace alliance of sufficient strength to rule out the likelihood of a German attack. Without such an alliance, our attitude convinced the world, and especially America, whose good will is absolutely vital for our security, that even now we did not mean what we said.

The Russian attitude became firmer and the British took refuge in a series of formulae. To prove our sincerity, Montagu Norman and his colleague passed £10,000,000 of Czech gold over to Germany; at the same time, our way of rebuking Mexican "Bolshevism" had the deplorable result of diverting the entire Mexican output of oil to Germany so that Hitler might bomb us with less fear of our blockade.

We can still imagine a resolute Government which could face the situation, realizing that it cannot defend all its possessions, that it has already lost so much face that the only chance of maintaining any dignity and independence is to withdraw from positions in China which are mere hostages in Japanese hands, and, by swiftly cementing the Russian alliance, to convince the world that there is somewhere it means to stand. A clear announcement about where it stands and what it would do might yet save a war, because Hitler is as aware as we are that world war of a nature we have learned to expect would destroy every ruling class and substitute-nobody knows what. A strong Government, necessarily cautious but firm where it was strong enough to be firm, might yet avert war, though it could not save much that British people have regarded as eternal. It could still be the hero of its own destiny instead of the spectator

The time for decision is growing short, Dr Barnes emphasizes. Unless we can find a institutions into step with modern material culture, catastrophe, he fears, is immine From this starting point, the writer analyzes in detail the major social problems of American life today. Each one, he shows, is a manifestation of "the great discrepancy between our mechanical progress and our social development." Vast research has gone into these chapters, each of which is a comprehensive and learned treatment of its subject, whether it be labor and capital industry, urbanization or agriculture, crima health, sex, migration or education.

In each field, the writer shows, maladjust ment and crisis are found as a result of the struggle between a high-geared productive machine and regulatory efforts based of conceptions of centuries past. "The average man would be unutterably embarrassed he drove through a public thoroughfare is a 1925 model automobile. Yet that same man may worship ideas and instit which date from the stagecoach era." Uptil we recoil from antique ideas as decisively as from an old-fashioned gadget, there is no hope of closing the gap, Dr. Barnes asserts

Weather Plays Important Role in the Trade With Spring Wheat and Corn in Critical Stage of Development.

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP).—Grain prices slumped \(\frac{1}{2}\) to 1 cent a bushel today but quickly regained the losses before the close. With spring wheat and corn in the most critical stage of development, the former beginning to ripen and the latter well in the tasseling period, weather played an important role in the trade. Corn tumbled more than a cent to 42\% for July, a new five-year low, but then recovered all of the loss.

Wheat was off about \(\frac{1}{2}\) \(\frac{1}{2}\) \(\frac{1}{2}\) cent at one stage.

More favorable weather over much of the grain belt stimulated some of the early selling but the decline brought out some short covering in the way of accepting profits on previous sales. Forecast of little rain and above normal temperatures in the northern and central great plains regions the coming week encouraged some purchasing.

COPPER PRICE HOLDS FIRM FOR THE WEEK

First Drop in Stocks of Domestic Refined Metal Since Last October.

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP).—Copper markets took stock this week of the tremendous turnover in the red metal during the first 10 days of July.

As a result sales volume slumped sharply. Traders showed no particular concern over this development, which is expected after any burst of activity. For the week ended Saturday, with Friday and Saturday, estimated, turnover was around 9000 tons, Thursday turning in the smallest daily total since early April. In the preceding week sales to home consumers amounted to 149,594 tons.

June statistics showed the first decrease in stocks of domestic refined copper since October last year and most observers expected July and August to register further substantial decreases.

An important factor in this connection, copper men sald, was that the 29,000-ton order by French interests would probably be moving during those months.

The price held firm during the week at 10½ cents, aithough a small amount of metal was reported available in the secondary market around 10½ cents.

In the export market, copper shot up to 10.45 cents a pound, highest since early in the year, but fell back to finish the week at 10.35 cents. Volume tapered as the price fell.

A prominent lead producer reported almost daily necessity of dipping into reserves to supply demand. In general, the lead market enjoyed satisfactory volume at the firm price of 4.85@4.90 cents a pound.

7900 DAVIS DRIVE, CLAYTON

This luxurious house is decorated in the Williamsburg yellows and blues. There is a silver and yellow powder room—a guest lavatory in blues and grays—the living room is large and dignified—the dining room is panelled; there is a buffet breakfast room and a kitchen where you reach instead of walking. It is the best kitchen in St. Louis.

Four delightful bedrooms—2-car garage—the game room is large and has Ferdinand and The Four Roses.

The house will be open Sunday from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. The price is low, the cash needed is small and the balance may be paid like rent.

SMALL LOAN COMPANIES NOW! A NEW LOAN PLAN

Pick your own monthly repayment You can borrow from $20 to $300 without asking others to sign with you. Decide on the amount of cash you need, then choose the payment which suits your budget. You may replay in 2 to 20 months, as your income permits. Below is a table showing sample repayment schedules. Other amounts and other plans are available. Note how you may repay your loan in a very few months to keep the cost to a minimum. Note, also, what small payments can be made if you wish.

Cash Loan You pay back each month (including all charges) for following periods: 2 mos. 4 mos. 6 mos. 8 mos. 10 mos. 12 mos. 16 mos. 20 mo $13.29 $ 9.08 $ 6.97 $ 5.71 $ 4.87 $25.94 9.75 $ 7.66 $ 6.41 26.58 18.15 13.95 11.43 39.87 27.23 20.92 17.14 14.62 11.49 9.62 53.16 36.31 27.89 22.85 19.50 15.32 12.83 77.82 79.75 54.46 41.54 34.28 29.25 22.98 19.24 This table is based on prompt repayment. Larger payments can me made at any time or in advance of the due date to reduce the cost. Tardiness will increase the cost of the final payment. Payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% per month on unpaid balances.

Telson — — 345 434 434—34—61 Extra hole—Picard 3, Nelson 4.

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP) -shey, Pa., showing more fight than an aroused Joe Louis and a better nishing kick than Glenn Cunningham, let loose with all he had on the closing holes today to beat out U. S. Open Champion Byron Nelson, 1 up in 37 holes, and win the National P. G. A. golf cham-Before a gallery of 1500 that saw one of the toughest, yet one of the friendliest finals in the history of the professional tournament, Picard won with two booming tee shots and two fine putts that gave him pirdies on the thirty-sixth hirty-seventh holes. The lanky tylist had the shots when he needthem and the courage to make them, and even Babe Ruth never came through better in "the clutch." Picard, whose victory was worth 100 and a place on the U. S. Ryder Cup team that will meet the British in Florida in November, turned the tide of battle by coming out of a trap and canning a 25-foot putt to save a half at the thirty-fourth hole.

That left him 1 down with two holes to play.
One Shot Away.

The thirty-fifth, a short one, was halved in par 3's and Nelson, who had played sensational golf all day, within one hole—one shot, in ct—of becoming the second man in American golf history to win the open and the P. G. A. in the same

Nelson had the honor off the thirty-sixth tee, and hit a beauty that split the fairway. But Picard, knowing he had to do it here or call it quits for another year, let ose with a terrific tee shot that left him only 10 yards short of the with green, 300 yards away. The gallery com came storming down the fairway e and behind came Nelson, the 27ear-old railroad clerk, who used to be an amateur in Texas, and Picard, the inscrutable, often dour New Englander, who has been a pro for 15 of his 31 years. They strode through the slim gaps in the crowd and studied their lies. Nelson, playing first, laid one 20 feet short of the cup. Picard wed with a chip that stopped six feet shy of the hole, and laid his man a partial stymie. Nelson putted and his ball went wide. Still Picard had to sink his putt to square the match. The gallery hushed, Picard sighted along the line, tapped the ball, and it dropped in for a birdie 3. went to the thirty-seventh for the first extra-hole final since Denny Shute had to go 37 holes to

way, headed for a sand trap, but instead caromed off a news reel

To give Henry room to play his approach—Nelson's drive had split the middle of the fairway — the truck backed up. As it did so, one wheel rolled over Picard's ball and pushed it down into the dirt. They had to call for a special ruling and Henry was informed he had the right to pick it up and drop it back

Meanwhile, Nelson had played his approach, six feet from the pin-card looked at that took out his ao. 8 Iron, and put his own ball within 10 feet of the flag.

went straight for the cup. That left Byron squarely on the pot but, in the friendly atmosphere would anyone like to putt this With that, he stroked the ball, It rolled up, then veered wide of the hole. The week-long tournament, which produced an unprecedented number of sub-par cards and three days of extra-curricular dreworks over Denny Shute's status, was at an end.

We Don't, of Course. If we owned a ball club, we'd call in the manager as we made out the salary list for the next year, and we'd ask the field leader if we had overlooked anybody who had served him unusually well the previous season. There might be a player, a key man, that the manager wanted satisfied, rewarded for good work that didn't show in the batting of the pitcher, who finished up eagerly, gladly, and with all he had. And we'd reward the morale-builders on the squad, the men who fought always for victory, and prodded the others into a little extra effort. The front office doesn't know about those things. We've seen a front office save $2000 by cutting a player's salary, thereby making him an unhappy warrior -a most expensive bit of saving. Too frequently the front office uses only the batting average or the won-and-lost record as its yardstick at dotted-line time, and it's no wonder that ballplayers get the idea that their bread and butter, their pay checks, depend almost entirely on how many base hits they can gather, and that hustle and striving unto help the other fellow to advance on the bases, to produce runs, which wins games. One of the outstanding examples we remember was the world series of 1931. Pepper Martin emerged from that series a national figure. But his teammates helped materially to make the Wild Horse the hero of that dramatic baseball struggle. If Pepper happened to be at bat with a man on base, the base runner desperately took a big lead, to rattle the pitcher, to disturb the hurler's poise, to make it easier for the Wild Horse to get base hit. If Pepper happened to be the base runner, the batter tried to make life as miserable as possible for one Mickey Cochrane, so Pepper would have every advantage in his helter-skelter basestealing rampage. There were bluffs to bunt and the batter

Pepper was going to try to steal. Yes, team-work can do wonders to boost a ball club to a high position and you can go through the pages of baseball history and many clubs with several outstanding individual stars, clubs that went nowhere in competition for championships.

FEAKING of operations, this is the toughest fight I ever had,"

Jack Dempsey said, his big frame making a long mound on a bed in Polyclinic Hospital. bed in Polyclinic Hospital.

"It's the first time I ever thought I'd have to 'dog it.' You know: anesthesia because I had a cold and they didn't want to chance pneumonia.

"Anyway, when I'm on the operating to legs, and I have an awful time breathing. ter hurry up because I don't feel so good!"

you. He has survived an emergency operation for a ruptured appendix and resultant peritonitis. His handclasp is strong, even if he looks pretty pale around the gills. But it does seem queer to see the old champ on

-0-0-"When I get out of here I want to go some place where I can take Hannah and the kids and maybe do some fishing," he said as he shifted the pillow, wadded into a ball, under his head, and smoothed his blue print cotton pajamas.

JACK DEMPSEY

"The trouble with a hospital is you can't do anything," he pointed out more to state a fact than to register a complaint. "You can't even enjoy the private bathroom you got to pay for! But I guess I'll be going home in a day or so," he ventured looking furtively at his press agent, Ned Brown.

• "HE'S LUCKY to be getting out tomorrow," snorted Brown, as he word, here to West Point, and see just what is going on. sorted the morning stack of mail. "He's feeling too strong. They threw The regiment, out-of-datedly him a steak yesterday and it went to his head.

"He ate it right down to the bones," Brown added, coming up out ing about the golf course which also of the mail with a shout and a water-color cartoon from James Montgomery Flagg. It showed Dempsey, propped up on a hospital bed, with the world, & fat, jolly old guy beaming from ear to ear at his bedwith the world, & fat, jolly old guy beaming from ear to ear at his bedby the same motor or the same side and saying: "Jack, me bucko, I've been waiting for this come-dance master. They look just as

My!" said Dempsey, abashed but admiring the Flagg art. "Gee, I'd ing them-proud of Uncle Sam,

The Flagg cartoon is one of hundreds of gifts, large and small, that have poured into the hospital. Religious medals have arrived by the hundreds from both Catholics and Jews. The less faithful have sent enough rabbits' feet to stock Harlem. The superstitious have sent a variety of charms to ward off the evil eye, and there have been enough books, flowers and baskets of fruit to supply the whole hospital.

Messages have poured in from all over the world, with cablegrams coming from such far away spots as Melbourne, Australia; Johannesburg, South Africa, and Cairo, Egypt.

"I didn't realize I had so many friends," Dempsey said, serious as a judge. "I'm mightily grateful for their messages and their presents, but I guess I'm more grateful for their prayers." __0_0_ mitting that he almost killed himself with his own diagnosis and precriptions for himself just before the operation.

"I had a stomach ache, and someone said, 'maybe it's colic.' Well, awesome and inspiring about the I think if it's colic then what I need is a mustard plaster, so in the Point. You can't escape it; it gets 48 hours, before I came to the hospital I put four mustard plasters on my side," Dempsey said with a grin, "but my appendix broke any-

__0_0_ THERE IS certainly no doubt that Dempsey survived that ordeal. and I presume there is no doubt he'll survive his present over-crowded big time. Before the game, they convalescence with the resultant traffic jams in his hospital room.

"Have you suspended the 'no visitors' rule, Mr. Brown?" snapped the big, red-haired nurse, as the welter of Dempsey employes and admirers surged and flowed around the bed.

"Why no! No, indeed!" said Brown in indignation and surprise, "Why no! Red and white candy striped cotton has been elevated to fashion importance this summer and is as likely to be seen for an evening frock as for a sports ensemble. Miss Bernice Freise strikes a happy medium with a casual daytime frock which subscribes to the popular mode of the very full, peasant type of skirt. The striped pattern is used crosswise for a wide binding at the square neckline and the sash which ties at the front. A wide-brimmed natural straw hat, white footwear and bag provide a cool looking costume. -0-0-

According to Lilly Dache the millinery rule for autumn is: "Let not the back of your head know what the front of your head is doing." She demonstrates this in a new fall collection by presenting hats that have a "double-header" theme. These models include close-fitting skull caps or tightly draped snoods often extending below the hairline at the back of the head while enormous flares or twists of material or fur, choix of feathers, flowers or lace or other big ornaments are poised at the front

The way the milliners are pushing hair out of sight will tax the ingenuity of the hair-dressers and give the jewelry makers cause for joy. When hair lines are sleek and severe as they promise to be for autumn, there always is a big demand for elaborate jewelry, especially the heavy ear-rings. Mention of the "hair-do" trend reminds me that I've noticed a good many women putting up their hair on their heads again after letting it down during the last few months. Semi-high seems to be the cool rule for summer and should get us accustomed to the sight of ears again before the severity of the fall mode bursts upon us.

like to hear about the gastronomic tricks of the movies. Perhaps we shouldn't say "tricks." The grub is always the real McCoy. The finesse comes in putting on the dog, without overdoing it. Hollywood dishes out a liverwurst on rye as if it were worth 72 cents and a cafeteria blue-plate as if it were a masterpiece at the Crillon. When it tackles a real banquet, as in "The Light That Failed," you get something that would pale the combined efforts of the chefs of Henry VIII

Then for days the commissary has tremendous quantities of hash and roast-beef sandwiches to dispose of. It is quite happy just now, arranging meals for eight pictures. Food is rushed from the big kitchen to a steam table in the wings, and this is in charge of an expert, Sam Field.

Last words of the speech are, "Don't cry," which Carolyn persists in ignoring. After each lapse, Griffith comments quietly, "There, there, Carolyn has missed her line again. Now we'll have to do it all over." "Man About Town," and "The Cat Then the unexpected happens, and the Canary." Miss Carroll skips a cue. FRANK LLOYD'S "Ruler of the Seas" has its exacting moments. Se in the early Victorian era, its meals go in heavily for steam and silver plate. Many of its scenes are in a Greenock engine-works, and it took a lot of research to get the details at dawn, and knocked off at at noon, their wives came in with basket-dinners and the children, all dining en famille, making it the heaviest meal of the day. This worked a little distress on the actors, for Lloyd filmed the scene in the morning, and they were still coping with a breakfast eaten in a private capacity. The heaviest eating fell to Will Fyffe, the Scottish comedian, who had to down half a joint and some suct puddings that Margaret Lockwood.

as his daughter, brought to him. "Fyffe is a jaw-athlete." savs Sam with admiration. "He ought to be in the Olympics. He killed three puddings at one try, and I couldn't even stick a fork in them. It's the one scene that Fyffe hates. He had to do it over four times, and he has a violent distaste for suet. "I dinna ken who wrote this play," he said to Lloyd, "but I could wring his neck." Fyffe pulled through, because he had had plenty of experience in the London music-halls, where they go in for a lot of eating. He tells of the grief that befell his partner in a comedy act who had to bite through two pies at once. The property man forgot to remove the tin plate which got severely bent.

"The poor man's jaws were out of combat for a week," Fyffe remarked sadly. "He had to live on gruel. And worst of all, he got fined eight shillings for using language that didn't go very well even in a music hall."

The SCREEN In REVIEW

By Colvin McPherson

HILE figuring the amount of ear-and-eye delight contained in "Second Fiddle," at the Fox Theater, a reviewer cannot help seeing that the musical film, which has its divertissements by Miss Sonja Henie on the ice and off of it, the singing of Rudy Vallee, the squelching wisecracks of Edna May Oliver, the love-making of Tyrone Power, also does a great service to the hundreds and thousands of movie patrons. It teaches them, in a modest way, to recognize boloney when

"Second Fiddle" describes one of those talent hunts such as was staged, and over-staged, for a Scarlett O'Hara. The great epic in this case is "Girl of the North" and Miss Sonja Henie of Bergen, Minn. (there really is such a place, and 27 other persons live there!) is the lucky little girl. Straight from her school pond where she skates from morning until night and back to morning again, she is taken to the land of eternal sunshine-California! Her name is on the lips of every

So she doesn't need publicity. But one of the studio's high-priced and disintegrating hacks, Rudy Vallee, does need it and a romance between Sonja and Rudy has to be promoted to get, the gentleman's name in the papers. Although his own heart says no, Publicity Man Tyrone Power does the promoting. And it almost costs Tyrone the love of his life. He has to pursue Sonja all the way back to her pond

So, the public service. Do we remember that in the past the columnists said Tyrone, personally, was that way about Sonja, personally, or that Richard Greene, personally, was that way about Sonja, personally? And then Tyrone ups and marries Annabella, personally. So that Sonja-Tyrone romance was boloney, this business in "Second Fiddle" is boloney. The question is, will we know salami the next

"Second Fiddle," except for Miss Henie's tiny skirts, is not like any other pictures by the skating star. There is no big ice ballet, no Alicein-Wonderland or Grimm's Fairy Tales spectacle in it. To be sure, Sonja teaches skating at her school but evidently that's in the Minnesota course of study.

"News Is Made at Night," the alternate feature at the Fox, is a typcal story of the girl reporter who makes good on a murder case, spite of the attitude of the hardboiled editor. Lynn Bari and Preston Foster play these parts and so far as the plot is concerned, there are no surprises. But the comedy is of a superior grade and scene in the picture, the supposed confession of a dying gang ster, is one of the most hilarious of the year. More than that, Boddie Collins plays Foster's valet and his very appearance is enough to send the audience into hysterics.

The Girl and the Gambler.

EO CARRILLO, that native son of Los Angeles, who gets a lot of work to do around town, playing this and that caballero, goes through his act again in "The and the Gambler," at the St. Louis Theater. He is supposedly one of those bandit chieftains that used to flourish in the Land of Manana, and the screenplay is a revision of the old Belasco play, "The Dove." After an hour of abusing two languages, English and Spanish, Senor Carrillo decides he doesn't want to marry Steffi Duna after all, if that ever was his idea, and lets her go in peace with young Tim Holt, the gringo gambler. The Chapel Ceremony at Christ Church Cathedral - Rare Family Lace Adorns Wedding Gown-Reception at Bride's Home.

IFTY-SIX years ago Miss Maria Benton was married in Christ Church Cathedral to Ben T. Cable, whose family built the Rock Island Railroad. Last evening at 6 o'clock, the same hour and in the same church, Mr. and Mrs. Cable's granddaughter, Miss Suzanne Cable Mackay, became the bride of Frederick William Russe Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Castleman Mackay, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Russe, 5247 Westminster place.

Only members of the two families gathered in Bofinger Chapel adjoining the main auditorium to hear the service read by Canon Claude Remick. Simple decorations consisted of June lilies in the altar ses and cybodium and woodwardia ferns massed with candles in the chancel.

Preceded by three blue-clad attendants, Miss Lucie Mackay as her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Edwine Nugent and Mrs. Charles Lewis Thompson II, the bride entered the chapel on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Anne Carver Stribling, young laughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cartrimmed with blue ribbons, scat-

Rare old point lace which trimmed the wedding gowns of both Mrs. Mackay and the bride's greataunt, the late Mrs. George Castleman, adorned the ivory chiffon gown of last evening's bride. Designed on empire lines over duchess satin, the low square V neck line of the gown was outlined by a frill of family lace which was caught at the shoulders and cascaded in anels to the waist in back, where · it was fastened. A deep lace flounce bordered the edge of the long, full and ending in a train. Point lace formed the stiff coronet from which an ivory tulle veil fell to the end POWHATTAN SAIT of the train and continued at each side down the length of the face veil. Instead of flowers, the bride carried a white prayer book and a point lace handkerchief also a part of Mrs. Castleman's bridal costume

The three attendants were dressed alike in ice blue chiffon over matching taffeta, made with full skirts and basque bodices with necklines and short, draped sleeves. They wore wreaths of gardenias in their hair, and carried shower bouquets of gardenias tied with chiffon to match their frocks. Mrs. Mackay was in lavender n and lace, and Mrs. Russe's gown was white silk jersey. Both wore orchid corsages.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Mackay home, an imposing Victorian structure at 2693 Lindell boulevard, to which guests were invited. The receiving line stood in the gold and white drawing room, and later the bridal party, with a few additional riends, sat at dinner in the liary opposite. The lace-covered table was lighted by a family silver candelabrum surrounded by four adorned with crystal and silver cornucopias filled with bouvardia and lilies of the valley. Guests at the table included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lutz Thompson, Charles Lewis Thompson II, Charles Gallaway, Miss Louise Stinde, Miss Louise McCluney, Miss Eleanor Pendleton, Walter Baumgarten Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lansing Prewitt Jr., brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom. Out-ofown guests included Mr. and Mrs. Philander C. unaware of any unusual happening in their household on the day of the party until they started down the stairway to luncheon. Walking before them were the two flower girls of 25 years ago, dropping pink and white rose petals, and in the large living room below guests had assembled to congratulate them. On the long refectory table stood a three-tier wedding cake with a bride and bridegroom on top, silver gifts and coins from relatives and friends were displayed, and telegrams and greetings in verse were read during the luncheon. Woods Hole friends called in the course of the afternoon.

Story of Fashion . . . that makes the beauty of this year's furs more than skin deep!

Tomorrow when you see the new 1939-40 fur fashion picture unveiled at Stix, Baer & Fuller ... you'll realize what we mean when we say a Story of Fashion! You'll slip into these new furs and find new softness . . . new individuality that makes each coat a style story of its own. The new furs drape in graceful folds, they ripple in soft back fullness, they slenderize the waistline, they have new contours that flatter your figure! You'll thrill at the endless variety . . . AND you'll get more for your money than you'd ever dreamed, because prices on quality furs are so low it is economy to buy only the best!

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

QUESTION MARKS OF 1940

THIS is the first of a series of color drawings, made exclusively for PICTURES, which portray those who at the moment appear to be the more likely of presidential possibilities of 1940—an assortment of prominent Republicans and Democrats from among whom may be chosen the man who will head the Government of the United States on January 20, 1941.

Thomas Edmund Dewey is 37 years old, District Attorney of New York County, and a Republican. He became nationally famous as a prosecutor, having been spectacularly successful as Special Prosecutor and as District Attorney in sending New York racketeers and grafters to prison. As racket buster he has made a strong appeal to voters; they elected him to his present office in 1937 over Tammany opposition, and last fall came within less than 67,000 ballots of electing him Governor of New York over the veteran Democratic incumbent, Herbert H. Lehman. His views on national issues are largely unknown; liberals friendly to the New Deal suspect him of holding antiquated economic notions.

Dewey was born in Owosso, Michigan, the son of a newspaper editor, graduated from the University of Michigan and the Columbia Law School, and practiced law successfully before becoming District Attorney. He has a bass-baritone voice so good that he once considered adopting singing as a career. His wife is the former Frances Hutt of New York; they have two sons.

The order in which the subjects in this series are presented has no relation to any opinion as to their chances of success. The drawings, in ink and arayon, are the work of a young Chicago artist, Hod Taylor. He calls them "carica-traits," a word he has coined to describe a combination of caricature and portraiture.

STRIKES broke out throughout the nation after Congress set the WPA work month at 130 hours. Labor united in demonstrating, sending protests thick and united in demonstrating, sending protests thick and fast. Heretofore, under the prevailing wage scale system, some St. Louis workers from the higher paid crafts earned their monthly wage of $85 in as few as 50 hours although unskilled labor put in as much as 110 hours to earn a monthly maximum of $55. Strikers say their objection to the 130-hour month is that it cuts hourly wage rates. They fear that if bricklayers, carpenters and other such craftsmen are paid on a relief scale instead of a prevailing union wage scale there will follow a general depression of union wage standards. The less highly paid workers on the WPA rolls also are protesting against reduction on the WPA rolls also are protesting against reduction in their hourly wage.

Colonel Francis C. Harrington, WPA Administrator, says the prevailing wage scale was eliminated by Congress because it had been decided that the 130-hour rule would keep skilled workers from using the WPA as a would keep skilled workers from using the WPA as a retreat at the same time that they were obtaining a good deal of private employment. He believes that the new rule will result in keeping the WPA employe on the job or influence him to quit just as soon as he can find an outside job. According to WPA headquarters, 77,627 of its 2,400,000 employes were not working at the beginning of the week. Those who are absent five days or more are marked "dismissed." WPA officials say there can be "no strike against Congress." Both A. F. of L. and C. I.O. union leaders say "no union man will work below CIO union leaders say "no union man will work below the union scale for anybody."

Charged With a Cleveland Torso Murder

The accused man. Dolezal is 52 and was born in Bohemia. The Sheriff says he used to work in a packing house, and knew all three of the victims who have been identified.

Mrs. Florence Polillo, parts of whose body were found January 26, 1936, on a rubbish heap.

OPING they were approaching a solution of a four-year horror mystery, Cuyahoga County authorities last week formally charged Frank Dolezal, stocky unemployed bricklayer, with having murdered one of the 12 persons—seven men and five women—who have been slain and dismembered in Cleveland since the summer of 1935. Sheriff Martin F. O'Donnell said Dolezal confessed the killing and dismember. said Dolezal confessed the killing and dismemberment of Mrs. Florence Polillo, parts of whose body were found on a rubbish heap January 26, 1936; she was listed as victim No. 3 in the series of "torso murders." The only other victims who have been identified, Edward Andressey (victim No. 2) and Mrs. Rose Wallace, a Negro (No. 8), were said to have been acquainted with Dolezal. He was arrested after investigators were informed he was fond of knives, was a former packing house worker, had been seen with Mrs. Polillo, and that examination of his former living quarters had disclosed traces of blood. It has been a theory of officers that the Cleveland slayings, in the investigation of which several hundred persons have been arrested, were the work of a man who had had training as a surgeon or as a butcher. Dolezal, 52 years old, a native of Bohemia and married, said, according to the reported confession, that he killed Mrs. Polillo in a fight after she had tried to steal money from him. Psychiatrists have pronounced him sane. Shortly after being formally charged with murder, Dolezal denied, according to his attorney, that he killed Mrs. Polillo, saying he was in a daze when he confessed.

In the Fashion Swim in Bathing Suits

Red of all shades is being promoted by stylists for bathing suits and beach wear this summer. This one is called "glamour red," zips low in front for sun tanning. It is made of a rayon elasticized fabric that clings softly as velvet.

These pictures were posed by Miss Martha Grayson.

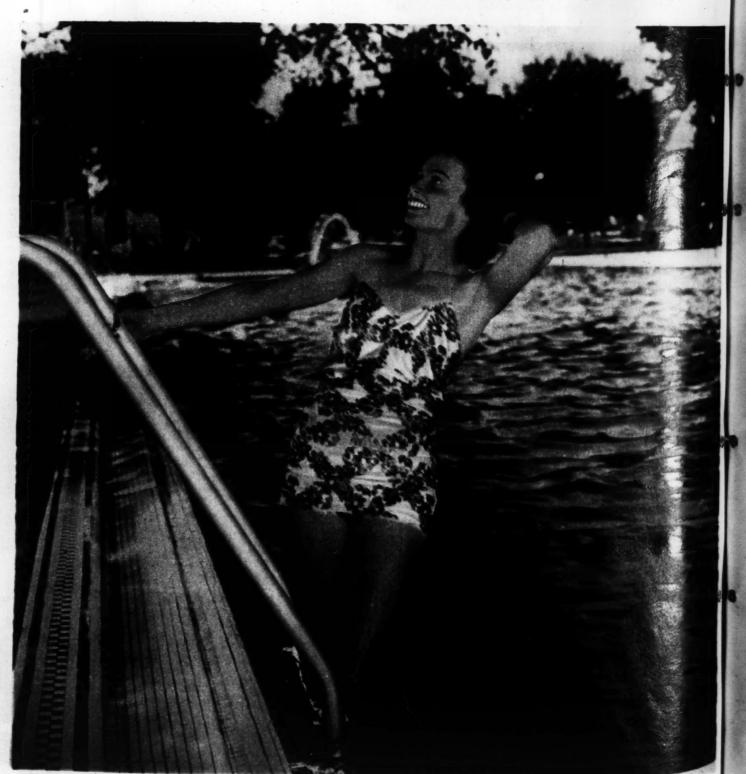

An attempt was made to introduce the bared midriff in evening dresses this year, but the style met a better popular reponse in swim suits like this fuchsia one of elasticized rayon satin.

A fabric new in swim suits this year is rayon sharkskin, elasticized. It looks sleek as a seal's back in the water. This suit, made of it, is in a Hawaii-inspired print.

The strapless suit, although worn by a few confident individualists, is not nearly as popular in St. Louis as it was on Florida beaches last winter. It was designed to do away with white strap marks on otherwise browned shoulders when strapless evening gowns were worn, but such evening gowns aren't being worn as much this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cornelius Rathborne, indicated by arrow, marooned on a board seat 125 feet in the air at the New York World's Fair parachute jump. Their parachute, one of 11 operated from the 250-foot tower at the right, stuck halfway down when one of its guide wires jammed. In the other parachutes shown are policemen who went up to encourage the couple—all they could do. Firemen were unable to reach the captive parachute with aerial ladders.

Tired from her ordeal but unhurt, Mrs. Rathborne, 25 years old, is being assisted to an automobile by a bystander. Her husband, 32, is just behind them. After declining medical attention at the emergency hospital on the fair grounds, they drove away in their car.

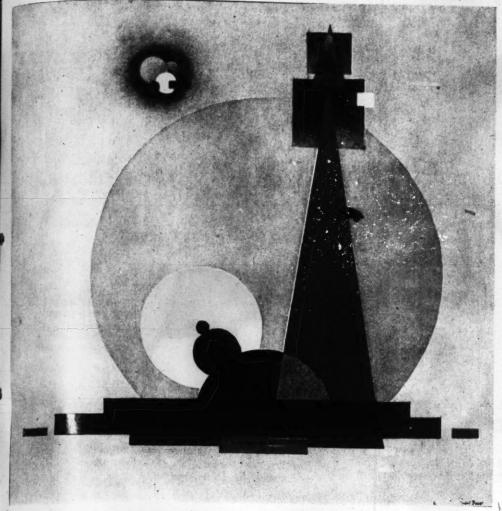

AMERAMEN as well as rescuers were busy during the five hours that Mr. and Mrs. J. Cornelius Rathborne of Old Westbury, Long Island, dangled from a fouled parachute at the New York World's Fair the other night, furnishing an unscheduled thrill to thousands of spectators 125 feet below. Here are some of the photographs that were made while means were sought to cut the jammed guide wire that held the amusement device aloft, and as the marooned pair was lowered safely to earth at 3:39 a.m.

Painting by Rudolf Bauer which, completed in 1936, is said to have inspired the Trylon and Perisphere as an emblem of the world of tomorrow.

"Rigid and Bent," an oil by Vasily Kandinsky, one of the leading non-objective painters. It purports to show the use of movement in design, as well as the combination of flowing and straight lines to achieve rhythm.

N DISPLAY at the Art of Tomorrow Museum on East Fifty-fourth street in New York is the Solomon R. Guggenheim collection of "non-objective" paintings, including the work by Rudolf Bauer which is said to have inspired the Trylon and Perisphere at the New York World's Fair. Non-objective pictures are of the most modern school of painting, and "contain no intellectual subject nor any similarity to any known object." The emotional sense of color and form is the sole guide for the creations, which "like music, mean nothing" except an effort to achieve sheer beauty in balance, rhythm, color and form. Although geometrical forms appear in many of the paintings, proponents of the school insist they have noth-ing to do with the intellectual conception of mathematics.

Most noted of the school are Bauer and Vasily Kandinsky. Shown in color on this page are pictures from the exhibit which illustrate the scope of non-objective paintings.

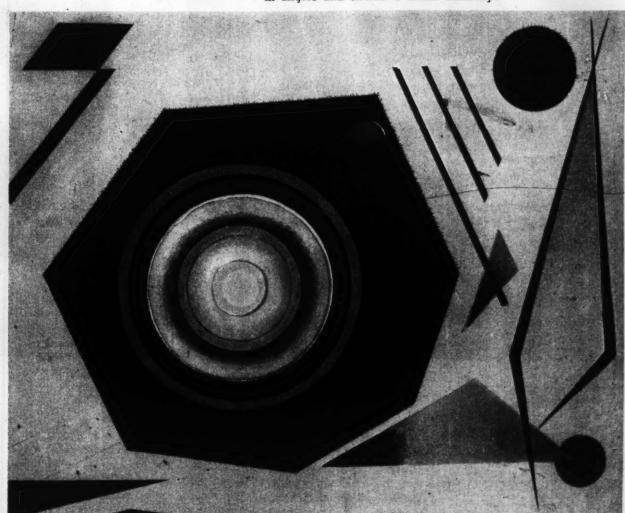

"Yellow Accent," a water color by Rudolf Bauer. Often a color composition is brought to a climax with a single spot of accenting color. Bauer works largely in angles and circles to attain harmony.

One of the earlier paintings by Bauer, "Sinfonie 18," which deviates decidedly from his later style, and seems to bear some earmarks of impressionism.

This might have been inspired by an ancient maritime chart.

"Colored Swinging," an oil by Rudolf Bauer in the slightly heavier color motif that marks some of his more recent work. Water color and oil are the chief mediums of non-objective painters, but others, including tempera, are used.

The show was held recently on a vacant lot on Catskill drive, Point Breeze, St. Louis County. The boys promoted the show themselves and pitched the ring. All bouts but the feature were scheduled for three rounds, with a knockdown—and there were plenty of them in spite of pillow gloves—constituting a knockout.

'The Wizard of Oz' Makes the Movies

THIRTY-NINE years after his original debut, "The Wizard of Oz" is again coming out of Hollywood to amuse and intrigue the world. L. Frank Baum, a newspaper man who lived in Hollywood and in Coronado, California, first created the character and the other people of the fantastic land of Oz in a book, "The Wizard of Oz," written in 1900. It has since sold 9,000,000 copies, and 20 years after Baum's death—at Hollywood in 1919—his Oz books are selling at the rate of 100,000 a year. Now Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has made it into a super-color production, with a cast including Judy Garland as Dorothy, who is blown to CMOKERS...everywhere...are comparing cigarettes by just Swatching them burn! One leading cigarette, compared to others, burns much slower! It's C-A-M-E-L! Camels win in this comparison by a wide margin. The reason: Costlier tobaccos ... carefully blended . . . in a cigarette made to burn slowly, completely and smoke cool, mild!

Recently, a group of scientists made this interesting laboratory test on a bigger scale. 46 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were tested impartially. CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED -25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR THE OTHER BRANDS. (Camels were remarkably consistent. Cigarettes of some brands smoked twice as fast as others right from the same pack.) IN THE SAME TEST, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER THAN THE AVER-AGE TIME FOR ALL THE OTHER BRANDS.

Camel is the cigarette of costlier tobaccos ... a cool, mellow smoke, more appealing in taste, and always so uniformly delightful!

SMOKING IS BELIEVING!

TRY Camels for a really thrilling smoking experience... fragrance, ripe taste, mildness! Camels give everything you want in a smoke ... including ECONOMY!

Camels have more tobacco by weight than the average of the 15 other brands tested. Besides, Camels burn slower than any of those other brands. And by burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands, Camels give you the equivalens of 5 extra smokes per pack!

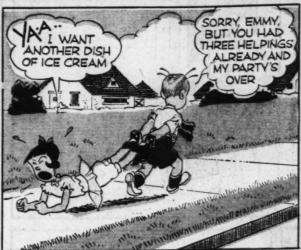

Camels give you even more for your money when you count in Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos. Buy shrewdly! Buy Camels . . . America's first choice for a luxury smoke every smoker can afford!

U. S. Administrator Sees Blighted Areas, Says They're Among Worst He Has Seen.

URGES EARLY ACTION FOR FEDERAL LOAN

Warns Critic the "Have-Nots Will Take What We Have If We Go on Living as in the Past."

At least $30,000,000 in loans from the United States Housing Authority for low-cost housing projects, provided proper application is made, was promised to St. Louis by Nathan Straus, Authority Administrator, in an address today a luncheon meeting at Hotel atler, attended by 550 persons, including city officials, real estate men, bankers and representatives of civic groups.

Straus was in nthe city for an all-day visit, chiefly to meet representative groups and to inspect shum areas in connection with the program sponsored locally by May-or Bernard F. Dickmann to replace slums with modern housing at a at a most of possibly $50,000,000.

At the luncheon Straus repeated details of his department's program, which he previously had outlined at a meeting at City Hall. He went on to characterize benefits of the program as four-fold, being helpful to families provided with decent quarters, to the neighborhood in checking decay and blight, to workers in providing conatruction jobs and to the community as a whole in helping to wipe out delinquency, disease and other

Stinde, insurance man, who asked, "Why doesn't the Government, with so many troubles already, stay out of things like this and leave us alone?"

Straus replied: "People who think the Government should remain idle while fortunes of one, two and five hundred millions of dollars are built up by private in-dollars are built up by private in-divduals who contrbute little to the public welfare, have another think coming." Ris response was loudly applauded.

He went on to say, "We, the haves, can't go on living as in the past while there are so many haveots, for if we do, the have-nots lill take what we have away from Private, Public Enterprise. He said it had been his observation that the American people judge private industry by its success and public enterprise by its failures.

"For instance," he continued, "the Empire State Building in New York, has been only half occupied for 10 years, but people never tire of say-ing what a fine thing it is; but let a Housing Authority project devel-op leaky walls—as happened in one case—and everybody is ready to say that the whole program is a failure."

The administrator, accompanied by his young son, Peter, was met at Union Station by the Mayor and Tyrrell Krum, Straus' first assistant, who had arrived last night. The party left the station shortly fiter 8 o'clock for a brief trip through the riverfront area before going to Hotel Statler for breakfast.

He pointed out that St. Louis was he largest city in the country hich had not participated in his hich had not participated in his department's program and urged that the local authority's loan application be filed as early as possible after the President signs the pending bill, which will increase the amount which may be lent by the United States Housing Authority from $800,000,000 to $1,600,000,000 "There's only so much cake and

"There's only so much cake and we want it sliced so that everybody gets a fair share," he added.
